THE WEATHER.

The daily record of the thermometer in this city is reported by A. T. Playter, druggist, corner Main and First streets. The record for yesterday was: 7 a. m., 45 degrees above; 12 m., 64 degrees above; 4 p. m., 77 degrees above; 8 p. m., 74 degrees above.

ABOUT THE CITY.

Deputy Sheriff Tracy made a flying trip to Deer Lodge yesterday.

Milk shakes were the popular drink yesterday, and Lon Burnett is happy.

Warm Springs was a scene of gaiety yesterday. Many Anacondans passed the day at that popular resort.

Decoration day is rapidly approaching and everyone in the city should assist as far as possible in making the observance a success.

The Smith Drug company soda water fountain was kept busy yesterday in supplying that pleasant beverage to the thirsty traveler.

The excellent attendance last evening at the numerous churches about the city was a noticeable feature of one of the finest days of the season.

Some low-lived sneak entered George Elston's room in the Delmonico building while he was asleep and, going through the pockets of his clothes, extracted the sum of $2.50.

The Hook and Ladder company have decided to turn out for practice to-morrow evening, and the members of the company are earnestly requested to meet at the fire house at 7:30.

The Juvenile Hose company will be out for practice this evening. All members are requested to meet at the fire house not later than 7:30 o'clock, and it is necessary that there should be a full attendance.

A great many people took advantage of the splendid weather yesterday to take an outing. In the early afternoon the city seemed almost deserted so quiet did everything appear.

The Copper City Wheelmen's club held its regular weekly run to Warm Springs yesterday. The roads are reported in excellent condition and the trip was enjoyed beyond all expectations.

Dolly Nobles, an ancient fairy from the row, was run in yesterday for being drunk. She was released after she had been in the police station long enough to sober up. She promised to be more careful in the use of intoxicants hereafter.

The game of ball which was to have taken place yesterday afternoon at the ball grounds at Anaconda park did not come off owing to the non-appearance of the Montana hotel waiters who were to have played a game with the newly organized Anaconda Standard nine. Two scrub nines got together, however, and four innings were played, the score standing 14 to 9.

A message was received from McCune's camp yesterday afternoon stating that a man was seen there answering the description of one of the horse thieves who made their escape from Chief Pickel and Constable Stebbins on Saturday night. It was stated that the man had passed through the camp with two horses, one of which he was leading while riding the other. Immediately upon receipt of this piece of news the two officers started in hot pursuit of the supposed thief.

Roland Reed.

Roland Reed will be seen in "The Woman Hater" at Evans' opera house, Wednesday night. The New York Sun says: "An immense amount of laughter was provoked at the Fourteenth street theater last evening by Roland Reed and 'The Woman Hater.' The unusual merriment was caused in about equal proportions by the actor and the play, and both were jovial revelations. Mr. Reed had appeared in New York as a burlesquer, and later in hardly less exuberant farcical efforts, but here he made his first important essay as a legitimate comedian. An old bachelor, professing hatred of women, but really susceptible to their charms, becomes simultaneously engaged to marry three widows. The theme is old enough, and the manner of the man's ensuing troubles, if not exactly the matter, can be easily imagined. The incidents are brisk and comical, however, and they are wrought out with much wit and humor, though with marvellous duplication of phrases and action. Mr. Reed was like what Mr. Ramond had been in the role of the blundering wooer, undoubtedly, for there was a striking resemblance, both facial and vocal, and the impersonation was in many ways reminiscent; but the living comedian, while not less droll naturally than the dead one, was somewhat quieter in his methods, decidedly more artistic, and altogether devoid of the traits of extravagant schooling."

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

The Heroes of the Civil War Enlarged By Rev. Mr. Lowry.

LAST NIGHT'S EXERCISES

Members of the Grand Army and Sons of Veterans Attend the Services at the Methodist Episcopal Church.

An eloquent and interesting memorial sermon was preached last evening by the Rev. P. Lowry, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, before the members of the G. A. R. and the Sons of Veterans of this city, who attended the services in a body and in full uniform. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity. After excellent singing by the choir and a prayer appropriate to the occasion, the pastor proceeded with his sermon, the keynote of which was taken from Psalm CII. In the course of his remarks, Mr. Lowry said that some of the greatest achievements on the field of battle had passed almost entirely from the mind of man. The majority of the great war heroes had died and died upon the fields. There were great enterprises which had changed the current of affairs, and those were truly great which produced great results. The efforts of the great patriots were yet a source of great delight and joy to the masses even to the present day and would undoubtedly ever continue to be prized in their true worth by the generations to come. Some few were held to-day, knowing that their time must be near at hand when they shall be placed side by side with their comrades who had passed away before them. They had shown their patriotism to their country in times of need by going forth from the pulpit, the bar, the plow and other fields of honest livelihood to endeavor to redeem the honor of the land of their birth. They had endured, toils, marches and privations, and fought, bled and died on the field of strife, and in their death they conquered, as one by one they have gone to rest. These sacrifices had been necessary for their country's perpetuity. Although they were dead, yet they live, live in the affections of even those not born in this land, live in the hearts of the lovers of freedom the wide-world over. They lived in the integrity of the nation, and praise should be given to Him who had given them power in the war of the rebellion to preserve the welfare of the God-loving people of America.

Abraham Lincoln was a man of prayer and the responsibility that was placed upon him at the beginning of the war drove him to the feet of his maker. He believed that God would give the victory to that cause which he believed to be just and right. This congregation had met here to-day, not for bombast, but to acknowledge the beneficent hand of the Almighty. The cause for which heroes bled and died was freedom and therefore God's nation. Mr. Lowry spoke of the landing of the forefathers of the nation, the breaking of Britain's tyrant yoke and the late rebellion as instances where the aid of right had been victorious with the assistance of God's all powerful hand. He was also glad while in the post room of the G. A. R. a short time ago to see the emblems of their choice, the Bible, the flag and the sword. Mr. Lowry spoke in glowing terms of these three grand emblems, and among other things said it was necessary to act in whatever capacity the good of the country should demand, fighting for liberty and right when need arises. He hoped the Sons of Veterans would be true representatives of their fathers and take Christ as the captain of salvation. His word would lead them on to greater victories than those of their fathers.

After prayer the national hymn was sung and the assemblage dispersed. The pastor was decorated with honors only 33 procured for the occasion, while at the back of the pulpit hung two beautiful national flags, which taken altogether gave the church an unusually attractive appearance.

A CLASS OF FORTY-THREE.

Bishop Brendel Conducts Confirmation Services at St. Paul's Church.

Yesterday morning, at 10:30 o'clock, in St. Paul's Catholic church, Rt. Rev. J. B. Brendel administered the sacrament of confirmation to 43 persons, assisted by Father DeSiere, pastor. Twenty young girls, dressed in white, and 10 boys were of the confirmation class proper. The remaining 13 who were confirmed were adults. There was a large number of people in attendance to witness this most important ceremony. The altar was brilliantly illuminated and bedecked with flowers and plants. Bishop Brendel, in the course of his remarks, said St. Paul's congregation was a wonder in growth and prosperity. "Three years ago Anaconda had no resident priest. Today you have more communicants and the largest church of any denomination in the city. You have built and furnished the priest's house throughout, yet you do not care a cent. Just think of it. All of this in three short years. There is not a parish in my diocese that has done so well. About a year ago the Sisters of Charity came to Anaconda. In that time they have nursed and ministered to the sick of 80 patients, of whom only 33 died. This beautiful church and large congregation speaks well for you as a people and for your pastor."

The reverend bishop also spoke in the evening on his visit to the Holy Lands.

YESTERDAY'S SHOOT.

It Was an Off Day in Spite of the Fine Weather.

The regular weekly practice shoot of the Rod and Gun club was held at the club's excellent grounds yesterday. The weather was all that could be desired, and everything was favorable for the making of good scores, but yesterday was apparently an off day for the usually good and reliable marksmen of the club. Some of the members were unable to be present, and this probably had much to do with the poor showing of several of the members of the club, who seemed to be careless. All joined in saying, however, that they will make a strong effort to make up for yesterday's poor shooting by breaking every bird in sight at the next meeting. The scores made yesterday are as follows:

First shoot, 20 birds per man, rapid firing system, 6 entries:

Barber.....12

Luderman.....4

Quane.....3
